Editor's note

Dear all,

The weather has certainly changed since the last edition of the magazine! As I write this final part of the magazine the temperatures have dropped for now and the breeze is most welcome. I hope that you manage to stay cool and hydrated, whatever you're doing.

There are some particularly notable items in this edition, including:

- A long awaited update on The Gribble! You don't need to sign up to Facebook to view updates on the Gribble News page.
- An update on the Neighbourhood Plan.
- A reminder about the Community Survey being run by the Parish Council - be sure to have your say!
- A timely invitation to get your electric blankets checked by West Sussex Fire brigade at Sage House in September!

Please note that I've recently been co-opted back on to the parish council after a break of 2 years. I'd freed up some capacity by moving to part time work and hubby suggests that I can't bear not to be involved! Seriously though, the community needs as many supporters as it can get. Life and times are challenging and if we want to make a difference we need to get involved. There are still two vacant seats on the parish council; if you have the interest in local issues and some capacity please email the clerk:
clerk@ovingwestsussex-pc.gov.uk

With best wishes to all, Mandy

Next year will mark the 25th anniversary of the Jubilee Hall, a wonderful milestone which we will celebrate on 15th May 2027. We are in the early planning stages and are looking for photos, stories & memories from the past 25 years. If you have anything at all you'd like to contribute, please get in touch: annemariedutchy@gmail.com

In recent months the Jubilee Hall has been full of laughter, music and celebrations. We are having a wonderful run of wedding receptions, bringing families and friends together to mark some truly special occasions. It's been such a pleasure to see the Hall looking its best and filled with happy faces, proving what a valued part it plays at the heart of our community.

Race Night, Scarecrow Day and the Summer BBQ were all very well attended. We had around 2000 people visit the Hall during Scarecrow Day. The "car park" (a field we were able to use, courtesy of Rod Hague) looked like we had mini-Glastonbury happening. Race Night & the Summer BBQ provided us with fantastic entertainment and delicious food. We are incredibly grateful to everyone who supported the events, whether it was through attending, volunteering or donations. It all helps the various charities (Jubilee Hall, Friends of St Andrew's and St Andrew's Church).

I am delighted about the excellent news that OPC has given us a grant to cover the cost of an additional 28 solar panels (bringing the total to 60), plus a battery to store the electricity generated and a replacement inverter. Overall, our carbon footprint will be reduced and financial and energy sustainability improved.

Brent Lodge Wildlife Hospital
Summer Wildlife Briefings 2026

INSIDE THE WILDLIFE HOSPITAL

It has been, and continues to be, a very busy summer here at Brent Lodge. We are currently caring for many baby animals in need of specialist care, particularly orphaned hoglets. Alongside these youngsters, we are also admitting wildlife of all ages suffering from severe dehydration, likely because they have been unable to find enough water during this prolonged hot weather. If you would like to help your local wildlife, keeping bird baths topped up with fresh water provides birds with a vital place to drink and cool off. Please also consider leaving shallow dishes of fresh water at ground level for hedgehogs and other creatures that cannot reach bird bath heights. If you see any wild animal showing signs of dehydration or unusual lethargy, please call us on 01243 641672 (ext. 1) for advice on the best course of action. You can also visit: www.brentlodge.org for more tips and information. Thank you for helping us care for our local wildlife!

PATIENT STORY

We currently have several hoglets in our care. These little ones were rescued just a few weeks after birth, before their eyes had even opened. Sadly, their mother never returned to their nest, leaving them orphaned and in need of urgent specialist care. They are now being hand-reared by our dedicated team alongside dozens of other hoglets currently at Brent Lodge and have grown quickly! With round-the-clock feeding and expert care, these vulnerable youngsters now have the best possible chance to grow into strong and healthy hedgehogs before being released back into the wild once ready.

Oving Parish Council News

Dear Community,

What a fantastic Scarecrow Day! It brought the whole parish together and welcomed lots of new faces into our community. Huge thanks to the organisers, volunteers, and sponsors — your efforts made this the biggest and busiest Scarecrow Day!!

Oving Parish Council has been working hard on the everyday issues that matter to our residents, while also interviewing a number of potential new clerks and progressing toward the Bronze Award.

The Bronze Award is designed for councils who want to demonstrate that they meet essential standards of governance and community service. Achieving it requires us to show that we have the documentation, procedures and information needed to operate lawfully and in line with established best practice. This award acts as a benchmark for assessing our performance. It challenges us to meet recognised standards and encourages thoughtful reflection on how we continue to develop and improve. By working toward the Bronze Award, we are strengthening the foundations of the council and ensuring that we deliver effectively for the community we serve.

Oving Parish Community Survey

Oving Parish Council is committed to making our parish the very best place to live, work and enjoy. To help us understand what matters most to our residents, we are asking every household to take a few minutes to complete our Community Survey.

The survey has been available online for some time, but we have received fewer responses than we had hoped. We appreciate that not everyone may have seen it, so we are now including details in this newsletter to ensure every resident has the opportunity to have their say.

Oving Parish Council News

Whether you have lived in Oving, Shopwyke, Colworth, Drayton or Merston for many years or have recently joined our community, your views matter. This is your opportunity to tell us what is important to you and to help shape the future of our parish.

Your feedback will help the Parish Council understand local priorities and guide future decisions on community facilities, green spaces, village events, local services and future projects. The more residents who take part, the better informed we will be when making decisions on behalf of our community.

The survey takes less than ten minutes to complete. Simply scan the QR code and follow the link provided. Every response is valued, and every opinion counts.

On behalf of the Parish Council, I would encourage every household to take part. Together, we can ensure that the future priorities of Oving Parish reflect the needs and aspirations of those who live here.

Thank you for your time and support.

Cllr Duncan Marston
Chairman

Oving
Neighbourhood Plan

Final phases of the Oving Neighbourhood Plan

In the latest phase the District Council is undertaking a further consultation of residents and landowners, that expires on July 31, 2026. It draws on the results of the one we conducted in November 2024/ January 2025. Representations will go not to us but to the recently appointed Examiner in whose hands the conclusion of the whole process lies.

The Examiner will assess the plan against the 'basic conditions' set out by the Secretary of State. Among them:

That the plan contributes to sustainable development

That the making of the plan does not result in less housing than if the plan were not made

The outcome of the Examination will be one of the following

- Proceed to referendum without modification
- Proceed to referendum with modification (the most usual outcome)
- Failure to meet the basic conditions

In the event of a referendum, the plan will be approved, 'made', if it receives over 50 percent of those who voted.

Keep your fingers crossed. The Steering Committee has done a great deal of work over six years. Let's hope it comes to fruition.

Stephen Quigley
Chairman, Oving Neighbourhood Plan Steering Group

Oving Scarecrow Day May 2026

What an amazing day we had, we were blessed with fine weather and this brought out so many people and so many wonderful scarecrow creations - 77 in all!

Oving looked gorgeous - the Pins and Pinot group excelled themselves this year with the tea table, fireplace, etc., but also the beautiful birds. Thank you to Martina and the group. We look forward to seeing your yarn bombing in 2028.

The judge had a very hard time choosing his favourite - Up! in Highfield Lane, which was awarded the Woodhorn Trophy.

The Goodwood Trophy for those entries from organisations and schools was awarded to Oving Youth Club's wonderful mermaid.

The Hague trophy which is for the people's choice scarecrow was awarded to Oving Grand National in St Andrew's Close.

All the entries were fabulous and many thanks to Dean for his photography.

The day would not happen without our very generous sponsors and we thank them all most sincerely for their support, not only in financial terms, but their generosity in allowing us the use of the field and the tractor/ trailer rides etc. Beaver Tool Hire very generously loan the ground guards for the field entrances to the car parks every year and, in addition, Helen Christmas built and maintains our website.

The small team of organisers, ably led this year by Shelagh Tasker, is helped by about 50 volunteers before, during and after Scarecrow Day. Thank you all. We always have a wash up meeting after the event when we talk about what went well and what we could do better next time. So expect some changes! We can always improve and that's what makes our Scarecrow Day a very individual occasion. People ask if it's a village fete, well - no - it's more of a mini festival, with scarecrows to celebrate our village's rural roots, and that's our excuse to enjoy a day with dance, drama, music and crafts. Thank you to all our musicians, singers, dancers, and craftspeople.

If you have any ideas or thoughts about a local craftsperson, dance troupe, etc that you'd like to see next time, send us a message via Facebook Messenger.

See you at Oving Scarecrow Day on May 13th 2028.

BOOK CLUB REPORT - Beryl Lang

We thought The Land in Winter by Andrew Miller was a fitting title for this sad, wintry tale. Two mismatched couples, separated by a large field, live very different lives. On one side are Bill and Rita: he is an unsuccessful farmer, while she is a former hostess at the Pow-Wow Club. Across the field are Eric, a doctor who is cheating on his wife, Irene, and Irene herself, who feels she deserves a better life.

These are believable characters, a mixture of good and bad. Both women are pregnant; Rita drinks and smokes too much. They become unlikely friends and make a snowman together, one of the happier moments in the story. Irene and Eric throw a hilarious Boxing Day party, complete with awful guests, plenty of booze and much drunkenness, but Rita is the star of the show.

Later, both women take a train journey, a pivotal moment in their lives. Irene finds a letter from Eric's lover in his pocket and decides to leave him. However, in the bitter weather she has to leave the train, rethinks her decision and returns to him. Will the marriage survive?

Rita goes to see her old friend Gloria but misses the train home. Back at the farm she suffers a miscarriage and becomes very ill. The ending is ambiguous. Does Rita die? How much does Irene help her? The novel raises questions about how people manage their lives.

Another sad novel is In Memoriam by Alice Winn. It is her first novel and tells the story of a group of schoolboys, loosely based on former pupils of Marlborough College who lost their lives in the First World War. The reader comes to know several of them, particularly Henry Gaunt, who is partly German, and Sydney Ellwood. The two fall in love, and that love endures through years of separation during the war. As homosexuality was against the law in Britain at the time, they eventually end up together in Brazil.

Of course, the reader is aware of the terrible fate awaiting those patriotic young men who eagerly went off to serve their country. The description of the Somme battlefield is especially harrowing. We were glad that Henry and Sydney were finally united.

The title The Wolf Den by Elodie Harper refers to Pompeii's chief brothel. The story is told by Amara, who describes the women there and how they cope with their situation. Some, like Amara and her friend Dido, were sold because their families could no longer support them.

Their master and pimp is Felix, who sometimes sends them to perform at parties, singing and dancing.

Amara becomes a moneylender to desperate women, which gives her a little more power. In their terrible lives, every girl hopes to find a protector, and eventually Amara finds Rufus, who sets her up in a house. More importantly, she makes the acquaintance of Pliny the Elder, a real historical figure, who enjoys having her read to him and eventually buys her freedom, which is every slave's dream.

There is also a slave called Britannica who, it is obvious to the reader, comes from Britain. She is wild and untameable but becomes a friend of Amara and decides she wants to train as a gladiator.

The novel is set in AD 74 and is part of a trilogy that will inevitably lead to the eruption of Vesuvius a few years later. What will happen to this cast of characters?

A Bird in the Hand is the first detective novel written by Ann Cleeves and features the retired couple George and Molly Palmer-Jones. The background to the action is birdwatching, with its jealousies, rivalries, ambitions and intense pursuit of rare sightings.

Young Tom French is found dead on the marshy coast of Norfolk, his head bashed in. His rare discoveries have put the village on the birdwatchers' map and attracted many visitors, so there is no shortage of suspects when George decides to investigate.

It is interesting to compare this early work with Cleeves's later Vera and Shetland novels. The story has some gaps, and the outcome seems a little far-fetched. However, the characters are engaging, and the sense of mystery that a murder story requires is already present. This early novel is well worth reading.

Could You Help Produce Our Parish Magazine?

We are looking for a volunteer with some experience in document layout, publishing or graphic design to help produce future editions of our parish magazine.

The role would involve bringing together submitted articles and advertisements and preparing a print-ready PDF for our printers, including crop marks and bleed settings where required.

This would be an excellent opportunity to gain experience, build a portfolio, enhance a CV and, where appropriate, receive a reference, while making a valuable contribution to parish life.

If you think you might be able to help, we would love to hear from you. Please get in touch at: ovingdistrictnews@outlook.com

FILM REVIEW: TUNER directed by DANIEL ROHER
by ANNIE BENNETT

Set in modern day New York, this exceptionally exciting crime thriller features the world of piano tuning… I know, who would have thought it.

Do not be put off, the story unfolds around Harry Horowitz (Dustin Hoffman) and his apprentice, Niki White (Leo Woodall) who spend their days tuning the not often played pianos of the super-rich… where else would you put the photo frames?! Their affectionate banter in the van belies a sad problem for Niki who was once a virtuoso piano player. He developed a condition, hyperacusis, which renders him unable to tolerate noise levels to the point where he has to wear ear plugs, and with louder noises, noise cancelling headphones. He can tune as he has perfect pitch so long as there is no other background noise.

Harry (Hoffman) is in the early stages of dementia and poor health generally, including needing to wear hearing aids. He constantly loses them to the chagrin of his wife Marla (Tovah Feldshuh). Niki is like a son to them, and to help an exasperated Marla, takes home Hoffman's safe as the hearing aids are locked away and he can't remember the code.

With the help of the internet and his acute hearing, he is able to hear the lock tumbling and opens the safe. On a subsequent house call in the evening as the owners do not want him there in the day, he is disturbed by noises upstairs. He is supposedly alone.

On investigation he discovers the security guys, led by Uri (Lior Raz) trying to drill open the owner's safe. They explain that their day job is a great cover and their rich clients have so much money and "stuff" they don't seem to miss the disappearing watches and jewellery. To get finished he uses his new found skill to open the safe for them. Uri of course offers him a job, but Niki declines. However, Harry gets sick and is hospitalized and has no medical insurance, so Niki agrees to assist with their jobs and take a cut to cover the medical bills.

At the same time as his nefarious career is taking off, he has met and fallen in love with a student pianist, Ruthie (Havana Rose Liu) and they move in together. She recounts losing a valuable watch with a pearl strap, (continued)

by ANNIE BENNETT

and during one of the heists, Niki sees a similar watch and accepts that as his payment. He gives it to Ruthie. Big mistake.

Her maestro, played by Jean Reno, recognises the watch as his grandmother's that survived the holocaust with her. Niki is busted and comes clean to both of them. To prevent the police being called, he does a deal to obtain the companion watch which now resides on Uri's wrist. In return Uri wants Niki to steal the passkey for the crypto wallet.

It is a little conveniently wrapped up at the end, but that's just splitting hairs. At 110 minutes, it rattles along, the music a mix of Jazz, Classical, Pop and Metal makes it zing. The camerawork is sharp and the direction superb.

Woodall is turning into one of the most watchable British actors at this time, but he is given a run for his money by Hoffman.

There is violence, but it is a funny heist caper of impeccable quality.
Play it again Niki.

Oving Community Garden Group

Welcome to our OCG news!

As I write this quarter's article to share our community garden news, I feel we have much to celebrate and much to be grateful for.

We are especially grateful to have met Derek, one of our newest members. In his mid-eighties, he had recently given up his allotment due to declining health, but after many years working in forestry and tending his own plot, he brought a wealth of knowledge to our little group. We were delighted to give him his own vegetable bed, and he visited as often as he could with his wonderful carers, who quickly became part of our friendly conversations.

Derek made a brief appearance at Scarecrow Day, and it was lovely to see him there. Sadly, only a short while later, we learned that he had passed away. We are grateful to have known him, even for such a short time, and his garden grows on. We all think of it as his vegetable bed. Our heartfelt sympathies go to his family and loved ones, who knew him so much better than we did.

If you are nearby, please do come and visit Derek's Veg Bed.

Derek's Veg Bed growing well

Scarecrow Day was a resounding success again this year. We set up a treasure hunt with free sweets for the children who collected all the letters hidden around the garden to spell the word broccoli. We estimate that at least 130 children took part and completed the challenge, bringing wonderful energy to the day.

Scarecrow Day Bee Bed

We also created a new bed to encourage bees and other pollinators by inviting visitors to plant and label a bulb. The bed is now growing well, with several bulbs already sprouting. Although some of the name sticks seem to have been pulled out by curious animals, the overall effect will be impressive once the bed is fully established.

And finally, we wish you all a wonderful summer. Please do visit our garden and help yourself to any vegetables that look ready—we are always happy for our community to enjoy the fruits of our efforts. We remain open to welcoming new members, and you'll find us there most Saturday mornings throughout the summer, watering, weeding, and enjoying the space together. We hope you'll agree that the garden is looking fantastic this year.

Our only gardening tip for now… Happy watering!!

Down on the Farm

As I sit here writing, I've just heard on the radio that this is the third day we've hit record temperatures approaching 37°C. So it is inevitable that by the time you read this it will be pouring with rain and be grey, cold and miserable!

However I have been asked many times over the last week or so as to how these extreme temperatures affect the cows. Well, I think it's fair to say that they don't like the extreme heat any more than we do and therefore we have to take, as always, whatever measures we can to look after them.

The number one concern for the cows, perhaps very similar to us humans, is that they have enough water to drink. In these extreme temperatures one cow can drink up to 250 litres per day. That's a quarter a tonne of water/head. We have 250 cows, so that's 62 tonnes of water a day or 62500 litres every 24 hours! We already have an ongoing water supply problem on the farm as the Portsmouth Water mains system is ageing and was not designed to deliver the amount of water needed to the number of houses and businesses that now exist in their area. Consequently Portsmouth Water have, over time, reduced the pressure on the mains network to cope (I'm sure many of you will have noticed this in your own homes) and of course the pressure drops further in hot weather as we all use more.

Consequently, we have spent tens of thousands of pounds over the last few years to bring in in a new second water main to the dairy (coming from a Colworth direction) and installing more and much larger water troughs. The latter being necessary because, with the lower water pressure, the cows drink the toughs dry faster than the mains can fill them back up.

The next requirement is shade and not all of our fields have adequate shade in the form of trees and high hedges, particularly when they're altogether. 250 cows take up a lot of space and requires a lot of shade, so we give them access 24/7 to the cow sheds enabling them to wander back whenever they want and chill out.

On the most extreme heat days the whole herd is kept indoors and grass (silage) is brought to them.

One of the worst things I've ever seen as a result of hot weather was on Salisbury plain a number of years ago. There is absolutely no shade on Salisbury Plain and several of the predominantly white cows were seriously sunburned. A sunburnt cow is something you never want to see and we have thankfully never seen here. (Continued)

Finally, with the extreme heat the herd produces less milk. Not ideal but if I was a cow I think I would do the same!

That's the cows but spare a thought for the people at Reeds Farm too. I will no doubt get into trouble for saying this, but the arable staff can spend much of their time in their nice air conditioned tractors! Not so the dairy team and milking times in particular can be extremely hot and sweaty as the body heat from the cows takes the air temperature up many notches.

Whether all of this is driven by Climate Change or a change in climate, I remain mindful of my late Father's wisdom and many years of experience when he would pontificate as to how lucky we were to be farming in Britain because we didn't have to endure the true extremes of many other countries. As he would put it: 'if it's raining too much we know the sun will always come out and if we're in a drought we know it will eventually rain'. As Gloria Gaynor said so eloquently 'We will survive!'

Meanwhile, harvest is underway at Woodhorn and Madame Green (with Sam driving his air conditioned combine) and another year's cropping cycle comes to an end. We have winter oats (for Organic oat milk), spring barley (for Organic beer and feed for our cows) and winter wheat (for Organic bread) all of which are ripening fast in the sunny, hot weather. No doubt many of you will be watching our maize shoot up in front of your eyes! Maize is originally a Mediterranean crop and loves the heat and sun. (cont.)

On a personal note, it is wonderful news to hear that the Hague family want to rebuild our beloved Gribble Inn. The new plans, driven by both the dangerous state of what is left after the fire and the financial realities facing pubs and hospitality in general, look very different to what was there before; but to quote John F Kennedy, "Change is the law of life. And those who look only to the past or present are certain to miss the future."

I remember, as a very young boy, going with my Mum to what was then a much, much smaller house, taking meals to an elderly Miss Gribble (Mrs Hussey by then). Surely no greater change than this then much loved home becoming a thriving pub could have been envisaged by anyone back then. Change is coming again and I very much hope that the whole community will rally round and do everything possible to support the project over the coming months.

Shopwyke & Oving Speedwatch

Dear residents

After a great response to the request for volunteers when we started, we now are looking for more volunteers to join us. It doesn't take up much time, as little as 30min a session and we work around you.

Speedwatch is a national initiative where proactive members of the community join with the support and supervision of the local police to record details of speeding vehicles using approved detection devices.
Our aims are to reduce speeding and provide data to support consideration of additional measures, such as signs that display and record driver speeds and traffic calming initiatives.

Gribble News - Rod Hague

There is about to be a submission for what is known as a Pre-Application Consultation on a new Gribble Inn.

There has been a long and challenging process to get to this point.

The code below will take you to a Facebook page where we will be updating news and progress as it happens.

Amongst the problems that we have encountered the following have been the most significant.

- A Conservation Engineer has confirmed that none of the remaining walls or chimney are structurally sound and will therefore have to be taken down.
- English Heritage have confirmed that they will not consider de-listing the property until it has been rebuilt.
- The existing layout of the old pub would not conform to modern regulations, which would be necessary as it going to be a new building.
- If thatch was to be the roof finish, then the insurance premium would make any business unviable.
- The brewery is also not viable due to its small size and age.
- The old skittle alley space was rarely used and difficult to staff.

The architects have therefore come up with a solution to these issues.

The old pub building is proposed to be rebuilt but with a clay tile roof. The proposal is for this to become letting rooms for the 'Inn' to make the business more financially sustainable. Two pubs a day close in the UK at the moment.

The former skittle alley and brewery are proposed to become the new pub. The existing building will have some extensions for toilets, kitchen storage and a garden dining room.

The proposal is to create a couple of new entrances onto the pavement. To create better access to the new pub.

The other various outbuildings will be demolished and a staff room built where the old garages were.

The advantage of the change in layout means that it will be possible for the new pub to open earlier than if having to wait for the original building to be internally finished.

The Pre-Application should reveal the various issues with the proposal and we welcome your feedback. The link to this will be put up on the Facebook page.

Community Warden - Jimmy Upton

I am the community warden for Oving and Tangmere. My role involves engaging with the community giving advice and support. I also carry out fly tipping and litter picking patrols. I found a fly tip of tyres and rubbish in Colworth and with some investigation resulted in the offender receiving a £300 fine from Chichester District Council.

I am also the chair for the Oving Youth Club which runs on a Wednesday evening from 6:30pm to 8:30pm during term times. The Youth club is for 8 to 14 year olds and has about 30 children attending most weeks. Details of the Youth Club are available on the Oving Parish Website under the "community" tab.

So going into the summer with extreme heat warnings a regular event please remember it is important to keep hydrated: drink lots of water. The advice is to drink at least 1.5 – 2 litres, or 6 to 8 cups or glasses a day. Keep your curtains drawn and doors and windows shut to keep the heat out during the day.
Just a reminder - I am not an emergency service so if you contact me I may not be able respond to you straight away, but I will make every effort to contact you when on duty.

A Pudsey adventure by Jim Richardson and Shelagh Tasker - July 2026

A friend of ours decided for his 70th Birthday he would give something back by trying to raise £70k for BBC Children in Need. After a long period of planning the skipper decided to take his sail boat, Big Bear, 2,200 miles to circumnavigate the UK with Pudsey Bear onboard which would be a first for Pudsey. The plan was to visit 35 ports around the countries. Some of the places we visited were very remote and at each one events would be held to allow Pudsey to meet with lots of children and adults for interaction and fundraising.

The voyage would be divided into a number of legs and the skipper invited his friends to volunteer to undertake 1 or more of those legs between 14th May and 8th Aug 2026. Shelagh and Jim were lucky enough to be chosen to be amongst the 37 crew chosen.

The leg we recently completed in early July started in Peterhead, visited Arbroath and ended in the port of Leith near Edinburgh alongside The Royal Yacht Britannia. Pudsey was onboard all the time but slept a lot between ports! Life onboard was fun even at an angle of 25degrees and temperatures were well below the heatwave that was happening everywhere else in the country. There were 5 crew and Pudsey onboard but when we arrived at a port Jim and Shelagh were always present at the events along with Pudsey of course.

Our leg included fishing ports and like many of the ports visited on Big Bear, fishing and the sea has defined Peterhead and Arbroath for centuries.

Some of these ports, which in recent times have experienced decline, are now focussed on regeneration. We met and were humbled by the people who spend a great deal of their time helping and volunteering with vulnerable children in their communities. The people in these communities and local businesses contributed significantly to BBC Children in Need.

We had local fresh fish for supper too - Pudsey approved but really prefers chocolate!

We visited a regenerated playground, a nursing home, the circus (by surprise), a sailing club, local cafes, and a number of local businesses. People's generosity was at times humbling.

At the end of our leg on this challenge 60 % of the fund raising target had been achieved and 1,200 miles sailed.

You can follow the boat here:

THE FRIENDS OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, OVING

The Friends are again pleased to continue with fund-raising efforts to support the Church to enable it to be a welcoming peaceful place for visits, reflection and worship. We contribute to Church maintenance projects as and when required and cover the ongoing costs of grass cutting of the Churchyard to keep it tidy and pay for some cleaning of the Church.

The Race Night on the 21st of March was a great success with some £2000 raised shared between the Jubilee Hall and the Friends of St Andrew's!

Our next big event will be the ever popular QUIZ NITE on Sat 10th October 2026 in the Jubilee Hall. Tickets on sale quite soon!

Another date for the calendar is Folk Night and Ceilidh on Saturday 20th February 2027 again in the Jubilee Hall. This will be similar in format to the sold-out Irish night a couple of years ago with Folk music by the talented Oving Folk and dancing led by professional ceilidh caller Niall Mitchell.

We also continue to run our 3 monthly Lottery with two cash prizes.
Congratulations to the winners of the July draw. Pauline Topper won first prize of £100, David & Jeanie Schooling the second of £50!

Many thanks for your continuing support – Summer is certainly upon us and very hot as I write this!

Lynda Sayer (Chairman, Friends of St. Andrew's Church Oving)

A Note from the Rectory

St Andrew's Church was built around 1220 on the foundations of an earlier Norman building. Thanks to the support of visiting clergy, a service continues to be held every Sunday at 11.00 am.

The church and its grounds are inspected every five years by a specialist ecclesiastical architect, and I am pleased to say that the building remains in good condition. This is no accident; it is the result of an ongoing programme of repairs and maintenance carried out by volunteers from the village.

The work is wide-ranging, but the most significant projects undertaken over the past couple of years have included the replacement of the heating system, improvements to drainage, replacement of the guttering on the south side of the church, and repairs to roof tiles. In addition, much of the interior has been redecorated, damaged cement on buttresses and around windows has been repaired, and extensive galletting (the replacement of flint fragments in mortar joints) has been carried out.

Although all labour is provided voluntarily—typically on Thursday afternoons between 1.00 pm and 3.30 pm—the cost of materials has been considerable. These costs have been met by the Friends of St Andrew's (FOSA), a group of local people who are committed to ensuring that our church remains a well-maintained centrepiece of the community.

Beyond the church building itself, significant work has also been undertaken in the churchyard and burial ground. This has included the repair of tombs and gravestones, the removal of a row of unsightly dead leylandii trees, and the grassing of large areas. Maintenance of these sites is also carried out by volunteers, usually for two hours on the third Saturday of each month, from 9.30 am to 11.30 am.

The result of all these efforts is a church and surrounding grounds of which we can all be proud. However, this level of care and maintenance cannot continue indefinitely without ongoing support. If you have a little time to spare, and perhaps a desire to sharpen existing skills or learn new ones, why not come along and lend a hand? Alternatively, you can support the work through membership of the Friends of St Andrew's.

For more information about the church, visit www.ovingchurch.org.uk. To learn more about the Friends of St Andrew's, search online for "Friends of St Andrew's Oving".

Phoenix Art Group

For the start of the summer session the whole group worked together. We each brought in a small vase of flowers which were put at intervals along a long sheet of paper. We then painted each bit of the paper with flowers. After we finished, we took a mount and chose a portion we wished to copy and paint as a picture.

We meet on a Monday in the Jubilee Hall and there are three sessions a year of about 12 weeks each. It really doesn't matter if you have never tried art before, there is always someone willing to help and guide. We start each session with a theme and go from there. We either follow the theme or do our own thing and we laugh a lot.

We start at 9.30am and finish at 12.30pm. Our next session will start mid-September and finish at the end of November. If you are curious to see what we do please come one Monday and join us for a cup of coffee.
